Bio

Debra Trappen is an empowerment firebrand, women in leadership consultant, published author, podcaster, and professional keynote speaker.

She is focused on serving growth-minded leaders – with a passion for sparking entrepreneurs (especially GenX'ers) building their slice of the kingdom from the couch, carpool, cubicle, or corner office.

A sought-after speaker, educator, and author, Debra's been spotlighted and interviewed on several platforms, publications, and media outlets, including Inman News, RESA, National Women's Council, National Association of REALTORS®, Maverick CEO, Agent Caffeine, The Inspired Woman Project, The Money Hour, How She Built It, realtor.com, RETechCampus, and Homes.com. She has presented her keynotes across North America in over 50 cities to hundreds of thousands of entrepreneurs and leaders.

When she is not igniting an audience on stage or creating in her studio, you will find her walking her pups, editing photos, watching sci-fi or 80's flix, or traveling, hiking, and wine tasting with her husband and besties.

Her first book, Fire Up! Taking Your Life and Business to 11 and the Fire Up! Podcast are both accessible on debratrappen.com.

“Debra has been a spark at our conferences. She motivates and gets everyone thinking with her amazing enthusiasm and great messages.
